

** This show relation between source and tweet count and maybe we will use it for marketing wise for ads to make ads for iphone users and it is a good idea for marketers to use it in ads .

** this show the top 10 dog breeds as we see that most of people have this dogs so if I have dog's shop I will show the product for most dogs are own this dogs and i will make lots of articles to attract those people.

**Show best dog stage depend on rating for the people so the pupper is most common for people how like they are so cute .

How can I find the luck? The answer is in the dog !! .

If you think it's weird answer maybe yes but as we see in this visual analysis you will find that most of people they have dogs choose the lucky for the dog name's for my opinion this for two reasons .

First: they have deep relationship with their dogs in some times maybe they will take with them in every where and maybe they will stay with them most of time so they are best friend for this reason them say (we are lucky for this relationship with dogs that make our life happy)

Second: most of people search for luck with lots of things like when they have the coins in their bucket or medal or any thing they think that will make as more lucky so in some times the people they have dogs because love dogs more than any things they want to believe that is their dogs lucky for them

** those two tweets, we can see that the ratings were done for comedic effect so that is the most funny images I think those two picture deserve to be trend on twitter:

